Introduction

The material described in this List was acquired with the Library of W.B. Yeats in 2002. The greater part of the material consists of photocopies of annotations, corrections, underlinings and other markings, including bookmarks and dog-ears, made in some of the books and periodicals that constitute the Library. The photocopying was carried out by Roger N. Parisious about 1968 (information provided by Dr. Elizabeth Heine). Of particular interest are the copies of corrections etc. carried out by Yeats and his wife George in the published versions of his own works that remained in the Library. Records for these are in a separate sub-section (I.i) of this List. Throughout the List great reliance has been placed on Edward O'Shea's A Descriptive Catalog of W.B. Yeats's Library. New York : Garland Publishing Company, 1985 and, where appropriate, all records have been arranged in accordance with his numbering. The collection also contains various working lists compiled by Parisious and O'Shea.

A small number of original MS items are also included; the "anonymously compiled" (O'Shea p.xv) card catalogue of the Library, prepared in the 1920s, and the notes for a revised collected edition of Yeats's poems with his own MS revisions, deserve special mention.

The List includes prints, illustrated postcards, reproductions of paintings, mosaics and sculptures etc. that formed part of the Library. These, most notably the Noh illustrations, the images of Leda and the Swan, and the mosaics from Sicily and Rome, have a clear significance for Yeats's literary work.

I Photocopies of annotations, markings, bookmarks, dog-ears etc. made by WBY and others

The photocopies were made ca. 1968 by Roger Nyle Parisious . For convenience the file has been re-arranged into two series: Works by Yeats and Other Publications*. Apart from annotations etc. by WBY, the Library includes works annotated by John Butler Yeats, George Yeats and, in some cases, by the various authors. For further details O'Shea's* Descriptive Catalogue should be consulted. Records in each series have been arranged by O'Shea's numbers. A few items are not listed in O'Shea; these have been entered where they would have appeared in O'Shea. The labelled envelopes used by Parisious to identify the photocopies have been retained.
